Introduction and Background

From time to time, a variety of difficult issues arise when it is necessary to transfer the authority over juvenile delinquency and dependency cases from one county to another. Courts can work collaboratively to make it easier for court staff, probation officers and social workers to understand and process these cases efficiently. In April 2002, the juvenile courts in Placer County and Sacramento County addressed a single aspect of the problem by implementing a pilot project between the two courts. The pilot focused on the concept of the transfer-out court setting a date-certain for the family to appear in the transfer-in court for both delinquency and dependency cases.¹ This was just an example of what could be done to facilitate the process. Both courts were pleased with the results of the collaborative effort and eager to expand the existing process to other counties and create additional coordination tools.

A substantial number of additional issues remained to be addressed including: identifying key contact persons in each county; uniform forms and orders; advance confirmation of addresses in the transfer-in county; timely delivery of school information such as Individualized Education Plans (IEPs); timing of the transfer before and after disposition; rules for foster care cases; and rules when children reside with non-legal guardians.

A summit meeting of neighboring jurisdictions was held on September 26, 2003 at the Sacramento Superior Court. Judge Kenneth Peterson presided over the afternoon meeting that included judges, court staff and representatives from the probation department, child welfare agency and various attorney groups from seven (7) counties. Break out groups were tasked with brainstorming problems, issues, concerns and solutions for assigned topics. At the end of the day, the groups reported back on the results of their respective sessions.

After the summit meeting, staff from the Sacramento County Juvenile Court took the lead in compiling and reviewing the issues and proposed solutions. This effort, including additional feedback from the participating jurisdictions, resulted in a proposed Protocol designed to set forth procedures for both the sending and receiving of transferred cases between jurisdictions. The proposed Protocol was reviewed at a second summit held on December 3, 2004 in Sacramento, with seven (7) counties in attendance. The comments and suggestions from that meeting were incorporated into the final Protocol.

The Judicial Council, Northern/Central Regional Office agreed to facilitate the final steps of this joint venture. A meeting with the juvenile court presiding judges of nine (9) initial jurisdictions was held at that office on May 5, 2005 to review the Protocol, observe a demonstration of how it works and decide whether to urge the local chief probation officer and child welfare director from their respective counties to sign the agreement to participate.

As a result of the meeting, the juvenile court presiding judges agreed to implement the Protocol effective October 3, 2005. They set June 1, 2005, as the deadline for jurisdictions to indicate if they agree to the provisions of the Protocol.

With assistance from the Judicial Council, regional training was arranged for court staff, probation officers and social workers during the month of September 2005.

The Judicial Council agreed to host a web site accessible by participant jurisdictions that included appropriate security controls. The web site should contain the Protocol and corresponding forms, contact information, schedule of hearing dates and times of each jurisdiction and links to each jurisdiction's Internet web page for quick access to court locations and driving directions.

Update: January 12, 2015

Effective January 1, 2013, Welfare & Institutions Code (WIC) §§ 17.1 and 375, were amended to allow the case of a non-minor dependent to transfer from one county to another when:

- 1) A non-minor dependent has a continuous physical presence in another county (the "county of residence") for 12 months as a non-minor dependent and has expressed an intent in remaining in that county; or
- 2) A non-minor re-entering care has had a continuous physical presence for at least for 12 months in another county during their time out of care and has expressed an interest in remaining in that county.

As a result of these amendments, Chapter Twelve has been added to this Protocol to provide courts, the child welfare agency and probation department with guidelines for transferring a non-minor dependent from one county to another.

Chapter One: Communication

A. Lead Court	1. On a rotating annual basis ² , one (1) court shall be designated as the lead court to be responsible for disseminating ongoing information and changes related to the Protocol. In addition, the court shall maintain the contact list of participating courts and ancillary agencies.
	2. The lead court shall maintain the Protocol and other relevant information on a regional JCC Extranet site hosted by the Judicial Council (http://jccprojects.hyperoffice.com) specifically designed for access by the participating counties.
	3. The lead court shall maintain the contact list and notify each county's single point of contact of any changes.
B. Single Point of Contact	 Each court shall identify a staff person to serve as the single point of contact for delinquency and a single point of contact for dependency, who may be the same person.
	2. Each court shall supply the lead court with the following information for its designated court contact: name, title/role, mailing address, phone number and email address.
	3. Each court shall provide the names and contact information for staff in the respective probation department and child welfare agency that will be identified as the designated contact for those county entities.
	4. Each court shall immediately notify the lead court when contact information for the court, probation department or child welfare agency changes.
	5. Each court shall receive and disseminate relevant information regarding the Protocol to other agencies in its jurisdiction.

² Initially, the Sacramento Superior Court will be the lead.

C. Individual Court Internet Web Pages and JCC	Each court shall maintain on the Judicial Council's JCC Extranet site the following information:
Extranet Site	1. Designated hearing days, times and departments for transfer-in hearings.
	2. Driving directions and maps to that county's court(s).
	3. A list of its jurisdiction's contacts (court, probation, child welfare and presiding judge or designee).
	4. In addition, each court shall provide contact information for Court- Appointed Special Advocates (CASA) and any of the following attorney groups as appropriate: district attorney, delinquency defense counsel, county counsel, dependency children's attorneys and dependency parents' attorneys.
	In addition to the above, each court is required to include up-to-date contact information for the court clerks handling dependency and delinquency matters, as well as up-to-date information on when and where transfer-in hearings are held on their individual court Internet web page [California Rule of Court, rule 5.610(f)(2)].
D. Changes to Protocol	The lead court shall be responsible for facilitating and communicating to the participating jurisdictions requests to correct and/or amend the Protocol.
	1. The requesting jurisdiction shall email the lead court's single point of contact with their proposed correction and/or amendment.

- 2. The lead court shall review the request, provide a proposed solution, if necessary and email to the single point of contact of each participating jurisdiction for comments.
- 3. The single point of contact in each county shall disseminate the request to the appropriate staff and the court shall ensure its distribution to other agencies for comments. Each court shall be responsible for compiling their comments and emailing one (1) response back to the lead court within 30 calendar days from the date of notice.
- 4. The lead court shall review the comments.
 - (a) If there is full agreement by the participating jurisdictions, the lead court shall make the change(s) to the Protocol and note the change(s) on the "Amendment Log" located after the Table of Contents of the Protocol.

- (b) If there is no agreement, the lead court shall arrange a date and time for a telephone conference for any jurisdiction that wants to participate. If there is an agreement by a majority of the counties participating in the Protocol, the lead court shall inform all of the jurisdictions of the resolution via an email to each single point of contact. If appropriate, the Protocol shall be updated with any change(s) and noted on the Amendment Log.
- (c) Once updates are complete, the lead court shall distribute the updated Protocol to each single point of contact. The single point of contact in each county shall disseminate the updated Protocol to the appropriate staff and the court shall ensure its distribution to its relative probation department and child welfare agency.

Chapter Two: Appropriateness of Transfer

A. Standard for Determining if a Case Should be Transferred [NoteSee Chapter Twelve for Transferring of Non-Minor Dependent Cases.]	 Delinquency and dependency cases shall be transferred only if the sending court determines all of the following pursuant to California Rules of Court, rule 5.610³: 1. The child's parent or legal guardian resides in the proposed receiving county⁴; 2. The transfer is in the child's best interest⁵; and When considering the child's best interest, attention must be given to the level of services required by the child and family and if those can be met in the proposed receiving county.
B. Timing of Transfer of Delinquency Cases	 The court shall not transfer a delinquency case until after jurisdiction is established pursuant to Rule 5.610(c)(2) (i.e., an admission is entered or one or more charges are found true at trial). 1. If at the time of the jurisdictional hearing, the minor's parent/legal guardian is known to reside in another county, the sending court shall not conduct the dispositional hearing (including the ordering of a deferred entry of judgment) and thereafter transfer the case out to another county [Rule 5.610(c)(2)]. a. In such situations, if the court conducts the dispositional hearing, it shall keep the case for supervision. Otherwise, the court must provide the receiving county with the opportunity to determine the appropriate disposition. b. If the court conducts the dispositional hearing in a county where the parent/legal guardian does not live, it may request courtesy supervision in the county of the parent/legal guardian's residency, but shall retain formal jurisdiction over the case.

³ All further 'Rule' references are to the California Rules of Court

⁴ See WIC §§375 and 750, and Rule 5.610(a), (b) and (c) regarding residency guidelines for intercounty transfer. Pursuant to WIC §§375 and 750, no case shall be transferred to the county of residence of an adult (including relatives) who has custody of the child either on a voluntary basis or as a result of a court-ordered placement unless that person is parent or legal guardian. Note that WIC §17.1, which is in Chapter One of the code, does not apply because it is in conflict with the superseding language of WIC §§375 and 750, which are in Chapter Two of the code.

⁵ Rule 5.610(e)(1) regarding child's best interest.

c.	If at the time of the dispositional hearing, the minor's parent/legal guardian did not reside in another county, but thereafter moved, the court may transfer the case for supervision to the new county of residence [Rule 5.610(d)].

2. If the minor refuses to waive time for disposition, the sending court may find good cause to schedule the matter beyond the statutory 10 - day period pursuant to WIC § 682. If the court determines the transfer-out is in the best interest of the minor, that necessarily establishes good cause to continue the dispositional hearing to be heard by the receiving county [Rule 5.610(c)(2) (e)(2)].

 C. Timing of Transfer of Dependency Cases
 1. Except under unusual circumstances, the court where the dependency petition is sustained shall not conduct the dispositional hearing and shall transfer the case prior to disposition being imposed [Rule 5.610(c)(3)].

Unusual circumstances include, but are not limited to: (1) lengthy trial which would otherwise require transcripts for the receiving county to understand the factual circumstances; and, (2) any other complex legal/factual circumstance.

2. If the child or parent/guardian refuses to waive time for disposition, the sending court may find good cause to schedule the matter beyond the statutory 10 - day period pursuant to WIC § 352. If the court determines the transfer out is in the best interest of the child, that necessarily establishes good cause to continue the dispositional hearing to be heard by the receiving county [Rule 5.610(e)(2)].

D. Placement Cases (Delinquency and Dependency) 1. During the Reunification Phase: a. Cases may be transferred-out only to the county of residence of the parent/legal guardian. b. Cases shall not be transferred-out based on the physical location of the child. c. Cases shall not be transferred-out based on the county of residence of relatives who have not achieved the status of legal guardian. 2. During the Post-Reunification Phase (i.e., long-term placement):

a. There is a presumption that no case in this phase shall be transferred.

- b. A transfer-out motion shall not be filed by the probation officer or social worker unless the chief probation officer/child welfare director (or designees) in the sending and receiving counties confer in advance of the motion being filed and heard, and agree that it is in the best interests of the child to do so, including that there are available and appropriate services in the proposed receiving county. The joint recommendation shall be reflected in the probation officer or social worker's transfer-out motion.
- c. If the transfer-out motion is filed by a child's or parent's attorney, the probation officer/social worker shall file a report with the court prior to the hearing on the transfer-out motion. The report shall include the communication information and agreements prescribed in paragraph b. above.
- 3. Placement cases shall not be transferred out if there is less than 90 days before the next scheduled review hearing. Instead, the review hearing shall be held concurrent with the transfer-out hearing.

- 3. If the petition is sustained by trial, and the judicial officer in the sending court believes that the minor would have been considered for informal supervision pursuant to WIC § 654.2 in the absence of a transfer of the case, that judicial officer may state on the form JV-550 that there is no opposition from the transfer-out judicial officer to the receiving judicial officer setting aside the jurisdictional finding. Upon a waiver of double-jeopardy, the receiving court may place the minor on informal supervision. See Section B-2 below if trial becomes necessary.

B. Receiving Court Position on Informal Supervision (See Figure A, page 32, for illustration of process).

If so, at the conclusion of the trial before the cross-designated judge, the clerk shall contact the receiving court to ascertain the date and time for the dispositional hearing. In open court, the cross-designated court shall order the minor and parent(s)/legal guardian to appear at that date, time and location for the disposition hearing.
